

Grass...golden, bent from the weight of melting snow giving thanks to winters passing struggling to be upright drinking the suns warming rays.
Soon to be green, soft, standing to greet the spring haze.

by Karma Yeshe Wangmo